Opportunities

We have 3 free and amazing tools that we want to share with you that will definitely expand your search for outstanding career opportunities:

1. Thanks to rise first, an incredible resource that promotes first-generation, low-income success, here is an outstanding list of 1000+ organizations to consider if you're looking for an internship, analyst program, rotational program, or leadership development program.

   Again, check out Gorick Ng's list of Employers with Dedicated Early Career Talent Programs.

2. Cawley Career Education Center's Leadership Development & Rotational Programs spreadsheet. It may be a little dated (2022/2023 academic year) but still its full of relevant opportunities.

   Check out this resource HERE.

3. And finally, github has this spreadsheet of Summer 2024 software, tech, CS, PM, and quant internships

[1/31] Dickey Center's "Build Your Own" Internship

With a "build your own" leave term internship, the Dickey Center allows you to create your own experience with an organization that fits your interests, skills, and timeframe.

For more information and to apply, visit here.

Campus Events

This year’s theme, “Advancing Democracy through Dialogue,” focuses on how everyone has a voice! Sharing it and being heard are core tenets of democracies all over the world. Martin Luther King Jr.’s legacy gives us an opportunity to hear one another, learn how to work through our differences, and find common ground.

Check out this link for more information!

[2/12] DCSI Social Impact Internship Funding

Design your own in-person internship experience. Work to support the mission of a remarkable nonprofit, make an impact on an under-resourced community, advance yourself professionally, and receive first-rate mentorship from an alumni mentor. Pick an issue to engage more deeply or a skill you'd like to master and design your internship around that aspiration. Schedule an appointment with DCSI staff to build an effective project plan!

For more information and to apply, visit here.

Applications are due February 7th, 2024.
[1/16] Panel & Reception: Osage Nation Leaders & Artists in Conversation

Free Public Talk: Five guest from the Osage Nation including Marla Redcorn-Miller '89 share their experience in shaping the film Killers of the Flower Moon and the impact they hope it will have.
