Sue AnderBois ‘05

Sue’s career is focused on policy and strategy to address climate change, expand clean energy, and support local food systems. She is currently the Director of Climate and Government Relations for The Nature Conservancy (RI Chapter) and sits on TNC’s North America Policy and Government Relations Cabinet. Sue serves on the Providence City Council and chairs the Special Committee on the Environment and Resiliency. She previously served as Rhode Island’s first director of Food Strategy. She has a BA in Environmental Studies from Dartmouth College and an MBA from the Yale School of Management.

Events: Lunch Panel on Powering Progress - Policy and the Climate Crisis

Ben Beisswenger ‘09

An engineer at heart, Ben Beisswenger navigated the nexus of tech and social impact at places like Emerson Collective and Salesforce.org. His journey includes hundreds of tech infrastructure projects across nonprofits, startups, and larger companies, aimed at amplifying impact. Off-duty, I serve on a charter school board and enjoy skiing, musing over philosophy, and puzzling. On-duty, he is the Senior Director of Internal Technology at the Collective.

Events: Dinner and Lunch Panel on Tech for Good - Opportunities and Pitfalls
Alex Bernadotte ‘92

Alex is the founder and CEO of Beyond 12, a tech-enabled nonprofit that “helps institutions provide their students with the academic, social, and emotional support they need to succeed in higher education.” She has more than 18 years of executive management and strategic development experience in the nonprofit and private sectors. Alex received her undergraduate degree from Dartmouth and earned a master's degree with a concentration in policy and organizational leadership from Stanford.

Events: [Keynote Dinner Panel] and [Lunch Panel on Tech for Good - Opportunities and Pitfalls]

Will DeKrey ‘08

Will currently serves as Director of Product Management for HubSpot, where he coaches product leaders and teams dedicated to crafting digital tools that help small businesses grow online. Prior to HubSpot, Will worked in a variety of contexts including early stage social sector start-ups, a social enterprise consulting firm, and grassroots organizing. He's a three-time chili cook-off champion, a failed professional videogamer, a gay dad, a history major and an MBA. At Dartmouth, he was heavily involved with DCSI programs including SEAD, OLE, and DPCS.

Events: [Keynote Dinner Panel]

Brad Drazen ‘90, P’20

Brad is Vice President of Communication and Marketing at the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving. Previously, Brad spent 20 years as a television news anchor, reporter and producer. Brad has served on boards of organizations focused on human services, education, community wellness, and the arts. He majored in Drama and English at Dartmouth and is currently Co-President of the Class of 1990 and a member of the Dartmouth Alumni Council. He also holds a Master's of Business Administration from UCLA Anderson.

Events: [Dinner] and [Lunch Panel on Financing Change - How Philanthropy Shapes Social Progress]
Oliver Edelson ‘18

Oliver Edelson serves as Legislative Director for Congressman Chris Pappas (NH-01) and manages Rep. Pappas’s service on the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. Oliver has held several legislative and campaign positions on the Hill since 2019, including serving as Policy Director for the Chris Pappas for Congress campaign and two years in the office of Congressman Mike Levin (CA-49) where he advised on energy and environment policy. Oliver graduated from Dartmouth in 2018, where he majored in Environmental Studies. At Dartmouth, Oliver served as Student Director of Growing Change with DCSI!

Events: Dinner, Young Alumni & Social Impact Job Search breakfast, and Lunch Panel on Powering Progress - Policy and the Climate Crisis

Erin Fitzgerald ‘20

Erin is a Senior Analyst at the Center for Effective Philanthropy (CEP) in Cambridge, MA, on the Assessment and Advisory Services team. Prior to joining CEP, Erin worked for an investment consulting firm in Boston and held volunteer roles for the Red Cross, SCORE, and Embolden, Dartmouth-alumni-led effort. Erin also serves on the Steering Committee of the Emerging Practitioners in Philanthropy Boston Chapter, and is the Dartmouth Class of 2020 Alumni Treasurer. She graduated from Dartmouth College in June 2020 with a B.A. in Anthropology and Development Economics.

Events: Dinner, Young Alumni & Social Impact Job Search breakfast, and Lunch Panel on Financing Change - How Philanthropy Shapes Social Progress

Sean Garren ’07

Sean is the Chief Program Officer for Vote Solar, a non-profit advocacy group working across the country to use solar as a tool for climate progress and energy, environmental and economic justice. Prior to joining Vote Solar, he was the Legislative Director at Fair Share, an economic justice non-profit, where he was lead lobbyist and set policy strategy for the organization. He also ran the federal clean energy program as Clean Energy Advocate at Environment America. Sean lives in his hometown of Boston with his husband and son. At Dartmouth, Sean majored in Government.

Events: Dinner and Lunch Panel on Powering Progress - Policy and the Climate Crisis
Sophia Gawel ‘22

Sophia Gawel joined LISTEN Community Services as a Service Coordinator in 2022. In addition to her direct services work, Sophia manages LISTEN’s social media and incredible volunteers. While at Dartmouth, Sophia participated in several DCSI programs including a Cohort Internship in Philadelphia and an ’82 Upper Valley Community Impact Fellowship with COVER Home Repair. While originally hailing from Michigan, Sophia feels most at home in the Upper Valley. She volunteers as a crisis line advocate for WISE and serves as a youth mentor for The Mentoring Project of the Upper Valley. She lives her life in memory of her brother Sam Gawel (D’23).

Events: Dinner and the Young Alumni & Social Impact Job Search breakfast

Susan Horrell ‘06

Susan Gordon Horrell (she/her) builds and develops cross-sector partnerships and collaborations that accelerate cures for rare cancer patients at the Rare Cancer Research Foundation. Susan has extensive experience in partnership development and has worked with over 400 partners, including Starbucks and Under Armour. Prior to entering the nonprofit space, Susan worked as an ICU and Emergency Department nurse. Susan is originally from Minnesota and she has a BA from Dartmouth College, a BSN from Duke University School of Nursing, and is currently pursuing her MPH at Harvard University’s T.H. Chan School of Public Health.

Events: Dinner and Lunch Panel on Tech for Good - Opportunities and Pitfalls

John Kania ‘83

Over the last 30 years John has been a practitioner, researcher, writer, teacher, and speaker on how organizations, communities and collectives can achieve change together. John is currently the Executive Director of the Collective Change Lab, focused on advancing the practice of transformational social change. For 17 years, he ran FSG, a nonprofit consulting firm and think tank working globally across issues and sectors to support social and environmental changemakers. John holds an MBA from Northwestern University’s Kellogg Graduate School of Management and a BA from Dartmouth College.

Events: Dinner
Dan Lucey '77, MED '81/’82, P’12

Daniel Lucey is a Clinical Professor of Medicine at Dartmouth Geisel School of Medicine, Infectious Disease adjunct Professor at Georgetown Medical Center, and a member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America Global Health Committee. He served as a volunteer to outbreaks overseas including Ebola patient care in Sierra Leone and Liberia (Doctors without Borders) 2014, MERS 2013, SARS 2003, as well as HIV, H5N1, Zika, yellow Fever, and pneumonic plague 2017 (with WHO/USAID/CDC). He helped design the content for the 2018-2022 Smithsonian Exhibition on Epidemics due to zoonotic viruses. He trained at UC San Francisco and Harvard.

Events: Dinner

Kevin Peterson ’82

At CDFA, a state-chartered, nonprofit development finance agency based in Concord, Kevin is part of a 14-person team that annually deploys ~$20M in capital to support place-focused community-economic-development projects across New Hampshire. From 2001 to 2018, Kevin served as Senior Program Officer for New Hampshire Charitable Foundation, where he helped design and implement the Foundation’s $12 million Impact Investing Program. Prior to the Foundation, Kevin spent 15 years with the Appalachian Trail Conservancy. Kevin received a Geography degree from Dartmouth. He serves on the advisory committee for the Upper Valley Community Impact Fellowship at Dartmouth's Center for Social Impact.

Events: Keynote Dinner Panel and Lunch Panel on Financing Change - How Philanthropy Shapes Social Progress

Marc Sépama ‘17

Marc Sépama ‘17 majored in Economics at Dartmouth where he was a King Scholar. After graduation he joined Helen Keller International (HKI) traveling to West Africa (Burkina and Guinea) where he collaborated with Ministries of Health to implement national health programs to reduce the burden of neglected tropical diseases. Marc earned a Master’s in Public Health from Yale, and now manages a portfolio of global health organizations at Emerson Collective, a philanthropic investing organization in Palo Alto, California, founded by Laurene Powell Jobs.

Events: Lunch Panel on Financing Change - How Philanthropy Shapes Social Progress